

1. Blake Everett, representing BLH Equipment, LLC, and ELA Mission, LLC, negotiated all subject transactions exclusively with Marvin Henderson. Will testify as to the facts surrounding the lawsuit. James Blake Everett, 105 La Salle Street, Madison, MS 39110 (601.946.6384). No employer.
2. Sam Everett provided support services for Blake and BLH as directed by Blake Everett. Will testify as to his supporting role at BLH. Additionally, will testify that he was on a road trip to Key West, Florida at the time of the MV Crown/Ivey House transaction took place, and has no personal knowledge of the closing that occurred in Louisiana. He did not participate in any of the negotiations with Marvin Henderson and Blake Everett. Sam Everett, 145 Republic Street, Madison, MS 39110 (601.707.3903). No employer.
3. Marvin Henderson: Fact Witness; of Henderson Auctions, and expects Marvin Henderson to testify:
 - a. He requested and received payments from BLH that were to be applied to transactions between Henderson and BLH, in excess of $140,000.
 - b. He was the CEO participant on all transactions in question, as is reflected on the company website, and business cards for Marvin. Additionally, Marvin represented that he had full authority to negotiate for Henderson Auctions to the extent that his directions for disbursement of funds, commission splits, changes in terms of agreements, and other matters were at his sole discretion.
 - c. He told Blake Everett that he “knew we owe you a bunch of money. How about I wire BLH $250,000, and we settle up when we sit down next week?”

- d. He agreed as CEO of Henderson Auctions to pay BLH a $50,000 commission on the sale of MV Crown as consideration for BLH's efforts to sell the MV Crown. Initially, when the MV Crown was to be sold for $550,000, Marvin Henderson authorized Blake Everett to keep $100,000 of the $550,000 sales proceeds as his sales commission, but when the buyer reduced his purchase price to $450,000, Marvin Henderson approved a $50,000 sales fee to BLH Equipment, LLC for Blake's efforts in selling the MV Crown. Marvin executed bills of sale for the MV Crown, representing Henderson Auctions to allow for the sale to take place.
 - e. In accordance with his BIO from the Henderson Website, wherein he is named as CEO, Marvin's name "is synonymous with auctions throughout the United States." As such, and with experience dating back to "1957," he accepted the responsibility for purchasing items at prices that would be profitable for sale through Henderson Auctions. Accordingly, the agreements with BLH provide only for sharing of profits with BLH, not to include losses.
 4. Marvin is expected to testify that the modified agreement on the M/V Crown took into account the money paid to Henderson Auctions and retained by Marvin Henderson, and a sales fee of $50,000 to BLH Equipment, LLC. He is also expected to testify that the Ivey House was to be placed in a jointly-owned LLC between Marvin Henderson and Blake Everett, but he later presented Blake Everett with a deed to the property granting full ownership to J3 Enterprises, LLC, one of the entities that has placed Lis Pendens filings on the subject property.

5. Janet Cagley: Fact Witness
6. Jeff Henderson: Fact Witness
7. Belinda McCullough: Fact Witness
8. Renita Martin: Fact Witness
9. Oscar Dillion: (225.938.0548) P. O. Box 356, Livingston, LA 70754; expected to testify regarding past business dealings with JAH. Additionally, he is expected to testify that JAH use of machines for its personal benefit, which were subject to the agreement between JAH and BLH, reduced the value of the machines and allowed JAH to use the machines without paying rent. There were no rental payments to consigners. Further JAH broke the machines, and in fact were welding on one such machine (FECON mulcher) minutes before it was to be auctioned.
10. Dale Henderson: (225.939.7203), 25669 Rose Down Ave., Denham Springs, LA 70726; expected to testify regarding business dealings of JAH. More specifically he is expected to testify: (a) regarding questionable past business practices similar to the ones practiced here by Marvin Henderson, Janet Henderson, and Jeff Henderson, representing JAH; (b) about the improper acts that have led to the license suspension of Henderson Auctions and Marvin Henderson in multiple states, reinforcing the allegations of impropriety on the part of JAH; and (c) that JAH presents improper accounting of deals for commission purposes on a continuing basis to keep from paying amounts properly due.

Marvin's
Brother

Auctions. More specifically he is expected to testify: (a) regarding questionable past business practices similar to the ones practiced here by Marvin Henderson, Janet Henderson, and Jeff Henderson, representing JAH; (b) about the improper acts that have led to the license suspension of Henderson Auctions and Marvin Henderson in multiple states, reinforcing the allegations of impropriety on the part of JAH; and (c) that JAH presents improper accounting of deals for commission purposes on a continuing basis to keep from paying amounts properly due.

12. Dennis Carlton: (225.938.8669), 25669 Rose Down Ave., Denham Springs, LA 70726; expected to testify regarding past business dealings of JAH and Henderson Auctions. More specifically he is expected to testify: (a) regarding questionable past business practices similar to the ones practiced here by Marvin Henderson, Janet Henderson, and Jeff Henderson, representing JAH; and (b) about the improper acts that have led to the license suspension of Henderson Auctions and Marvin Henderson in multiple states, reinforcing the allegations of impropriety on the part of JAH.

13. Nick Clark, Nick Clark Auctions, 1056 Greymont Street, Jackson, MS 39202, 601.317.2536, expected to testify as to facts surrounding the case. More specifically, regarding the diminished valuation of the property as a result of the actions of JAH, and the payment made to ELA Mission, LLC for the auctioned personal property.

14. Dr. Glen Rhodes, 2597 WPA Road, Sulphur, LA 70663, 337.528.9830, J. D. Hankins and Stephanie Hankins, 1601 West Priene Lake Road, Lake Charles, LA